

DISCLAIMER

Certification as an Immigration Specialist is not currently available in Georgia. Sikal & Associates limits its practice strictly to immigration law, a Federal practice area, and we do not claim expertise in the laws of states other than where our attorneys are licensed.

U.S. immigration laws and procedures are subject to federal jurisdiction, not to state laws and Sikal & Associates practices immigration law in all fifty states. Information, statistics, regulations, laws, and procedures provided in our web page are accurate to the best of our knowledge. However, laws changes frequently and although information is current when posted it may not remain current. In addition, immigration laws are very complex and thus this website is provided for general information only and not as a substitute for professional legal advice. In no event will Sikal & Associates, LLC be liable for any types of damages from decisions made by individuals based on the contents or use of this web site. Before acting on any of the materials presented here, we advise you to seek legal counsel.

The information contained on this site is for members of the public generally and is not intended to provide solutions to individual problems.

This is an advertisement. Sikal & Associates does not retain clients on the strength of advertising materials alone but only after following our own engagement procedures (e.g., retainer agreements, conflict of interest checks, interviews, etc.).

The use of the web site of Sikal & Associates, LLC or interactions with our office via email or telephone does not automatically create an attorney-client relationship between the user and our law office. The materials contained in this web site or at any other web site to which this site is linked are for informational purposes only and cannot substitute for consulting with an attorney who is knowledgeable and proficient in the laws related to your case. The information provided does not constitute legal advice.
